THE ALLIANCE FOR THE SOVEREIGNTY OF FRANCE

The ratification of the Maastricht Treaty in 1992 opened the way to the total destruction of France, depriving it of the five powers characterizing la sovereign state:

- The power to mint money : lost by abandoning its national currency, the Franc, in favor of the ECU, which later became the Euro according to the will of Germany.
- The power to say the law: lost by the strict obligation "to fully and faithfully transpose European directives into French law".
- The power of rendering justice: lost by the power of the European Court of Justice to overturn a French decision and to impose its own.
- The power to decide of peace or of war: lost by the obligation to respect the decisions of the EU's Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP), of the Western European Union (WEU) and of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).
- The power to welcome people it agrees on its territory delimited by its own borders: lost by the disappearance of these and by the prohibition to carry out controls there.

All these destructions achieved by the Treaties of "Amsterdam", "Nice" and then "Lisbon" which followed.

To oppose the Maastricht Treaty, clever farseeing French persons, such as Mrs Marie-France GARAUD, MM Charles PASQUA, Philippe de VILLIERS, Jean FOYER, Philippe SEGUIN, Pierre MESSMER, and a few others with whom Bernard CHALUMEAU associated himself.

In vain: the unprecedented surge of the fake outrageous propaganda by supporters of the treaty convinced the French to adopt it by a slim majority of 51.04% for 69% of the votes cast in the referendum of September 20, 1992.

The new losses of sovereignty included in the draft of the Amsterdam Treaty which followed, urged Bernard CHALUMEAU to launch within the Academy of Gaullism, at the end of 1977, a vibrant call to the country for the constitution of a sovereignist movement to oppose it.

Thus with the support of Mr. Maurice SCHUMANN (Free French, Companion de la Libération, former Minister of General de Gaulle), was born in December 1997 the first French sovereignist political movement: "The Alliance for the Sovereignty of France", of which Bernard CHALUMEAU became General Secretary, from its creation until the end of his second mandate at the end of September 2003, date on which the movement went to sleep.

Throughout this period, thanks to Mr. Georges BERTHU, French Member of the European parliament, vice president of the institutional commission, member of the Europe of Nations group (EDN), with whom he finely analyzed the treaties of Amsterdam, Nice and the one establishing a constitution for Europe, as well as to the great French jurisconsult, Mr. Jean FOYER, former Minister of Justice of general Charles de Gaulle, President of the National Sovereignist Council (NSC) of the Alliance for the Sovereignty of France, he enhanced his knowledge of the Treaties and of the shenanigans from their drafters to enslave and to squeeze the peoples of the European Union and increased his knowledge of public and international law in the exercise of State sovereignty.

This precious training enabled him to analyze objectively the European treaties up to the "European constitution bis" known as the "Lisbon Treaty".

Conscious of his wide knowledge of the EU's law French employers' unions, had recourse to him to defend them during the drafting of European directives concerning their products in front of the Brussels Commission which recognized him as EU's official expert.

For many years, he therefore had to face the high authorities of the EU's Commission, face to face, under extreme stress conditions, for the initial drafting of many directives "behind closed doors", where the members of the European Parliament are not even admitted...

After reducing its activities from 2004 and remaining without a president-elect since, the Alliance for the Sovereignty of France is reactivated under the impetus of its new president Bernard CHALUMEAU, elected during the official Congress held on August 25, 2015, in at the same time as the address of its head office was changed at the end of 2015.

However, convinced:

- of the inability of political parties to restore the sovereignty of France at the same time as the freedoms and prosperity of its people (hypothesis which has always been verified),
- that the absurdity of the current supranational federal European Union, becoming more and more unbearable to the peoples which compose it, will only be maintained by having recourse to totalitarianism and tyranny (abuses which are currently intensifying today),

Bernard CHALUMEAU proposes to dissolve the political movement "Alliance for the Sovereignty of France" for the benefit of a benchmark sovereignist think tank.

Thus by its constituent Congress of May 8, 2016 the "Alliance for the sovereignty of France" (whose name is kept because of its notoriety) became an association law of 1901 of general interest, with new statutes, a think tank, the objective of which is to establish the necessary documents and to promote the required basic principles, usable by all decision-makers wishing to restore France as a sovereign and free nation.

Bernard CHALUMEAU was brought to its presidency at the time of this constitutive congress.

His wide experience, probably unique within France, with regard to European treaties, the very singular methods of their authors, their declared and hidden goals, his knowledge of public law, his relations within the Union (United Kingdom, Republic of Ireland, Poland, Denmark, Belgium), and outside the Union (Russia, United States, Serbia, Haiti), allow the Alliance for the sovereignty of France, to the members who have already joined, to those who will join it, to have a facilitator able to give it and its country, a maximum of precious elements to enlighten anyone wishing to see France become back a sovereign, free and independent nation.

These very precious elements are brought to the attention of everyone on the Alliance for the Sovereignty of France website:

The social object of the newly constituted think tank, within which the National Sovereignist Council (NSC) is maintained, will be found below:
